Cash Income and Outgo of the Treasury, Fiscal Year 1939

(These figures are not intended to reflect the budgetary position of the Government. They will not agree with budgetary figures on receipts, expenditures and deficit such as those appearing in Daily Treasury Statements and in other tables in this Bulletin. For an explanation of the revisions made in Daily Treasury Statement figures to arrive at this cash series, see the text in February Bulletin. All figures in the table at the bottom of the page have now been revised in accordance with that explanation.)

Note: "Interest-Bearing Debt" figures include discount on Treasury Bills, amount being deducted prior to calculating the average interest rate.

Comparison of Average Yields of Long-term United States Treasury Bonds and High-grade Corporate Bonds

Long-term interest rates have decreased to such an extent within the past year that all of the callable bonds previously included in the Treasury average of high-grade corporate bonds are now selling above their call prices, and thus have become relatively insensitive to changes in interest rates. It has therefore been necessary to revise the Treasury index. It is not possible at the present time to obtain a broad list of corporate bonds upon which to base a satisfactory average, because all actively traded high-grade callable bonds are now selling above their call prices, and because there are very few long-term high-grade non-callable bonds other than rails. In view of these difficulties, the Treasury corporate bond average will be temporarily based upon a small list of bonds which are actually "free" to move and so indicate changes in the underlying market. The number of bonds will be increased at some future date when additional issues suitable for inclusion in the index are available. The new Treasury index is based upon five bonds and has been carried back to September 14, 1938, when the old and the new averages were identical. The average of high-grade corporates exclusive of rails has been discontinued.
